

Registered Massage Therapists Phases for Back to Work

The CMTNL strongly believes that in order to protect the public, clients and Registered Massage Therapists in the midst of a pandemic, phasing back to work is best practice. Slowly allowing both therapists and clients to return to treatments with these new guidelines is the safest way to monitor the situation and make necessary changes when needed.

RMTs will be permitted to begin in phase 2. The CMTNL will change phases based on therapists' feedbacks, public complaints, Department of Health direction and provincial COVID-19 cases/outbreaks/situation. Once a new phase is open the therapist decides if they are comfortable to treat or not according to the new Phase. Any therapist who wishes to treat according to Phase 1 may do so
